What should all DACA recipients and DACA eligible individuals who did not file or let their DACA expire do now?	Get legal advice about ALL of your immigration options from a qualified experienced licensed immigration attorney or BIA accredited representative. Watch out for scams .

*Even if you no longer qualify for DACA, you should consult with an attorney. There is litigation on the sudden rescission of the program without notice, or you may have other immigration options.

**USCIS must RECEIVE your renewal request on or before 10/5/2018. If merely postmarked on 10/5/2018 and received after that date, it will not be timely filed. This means you need to act NOW!! Do not wait to the last minute and allow a few extra days for delivery service mistakes. Keep copies and send by delivery requiring a signature or proof of delivery!!

*** Even if you have advance parole, whether to use it presents some risks that you should discuss first with an immigration lawyer before you make your travel plans. This will vary by person based on immigration history, and how much of a risk taker you want to be despite the advantages of advance parole.
